KNOWLEDGE OF THE CASE

Glen Casada of Williamson County, Tennessee and Cade Cothren of Lawrence County, Tennessee are both charged with offenses related to allegations that they, along with Robin Smith, misused funds belonging to the State of Tennessee. Glen Casada and Robin Smith were elected state representatives; Cade Cothren served as chief of staff for Casada. The allegations concern constituent mail services performed by Smith's and Casada's companies, with the assistance of Phoenix Solutions, a company owned by Cothren. The Indictment accuses Casada, Cothren, and Smith of concealing their involvement with Phoenix Solutions in order to profit from their constituent mail work. An indictment merely contains allegations by the government, and Casada and Cothren are presumed innocent. Casada and Cothren both entered a plea of not guilty to these charges and deny that they committed, or conspired to commit, any offenses.
